ROME

From Canada
Margaret e Aaron

Getting married in Rome means immersing yourself in a romantic and evocative atmosphere, made even more special by the city's millennial history and timeless beauty.
A destination wedding in Rome is an unforgettable experience for you and your guests, who can live a daydream among iconic monuments, picturesque views and authentic flavours.

Planning a destination wedding in Rome

Rome, the eternal city, provided the backdrop for the romantic elopement of Margaret and Aaron, a Canadian couple who choose to celebrate their love in a unique and special way. Far from friends and family, they said their 'Yes, I do' in an intimate and evocative atmosphere, immersed in the timeless beauty of the city.

After their elopement, Aaron and Margaret decided to celebrate their love with an elopement in Rome, a romantic getaway away from prying eyes. They chiose a fairytale location, a small ancient temple nestled in the green Park, where they were able to pronounce their vows of love in an intimate and moving ceremony.

Margaret and Aaron's elopement was a unique and special event, combining their love with the magic of the eternal city. They spent their first day as husband and wife walking the streets of Rome, visiting its artistic and cultural treasures, and enjoying the Italian dolce vita.

The Colosseum: an icon of Rome and the Roman Empire

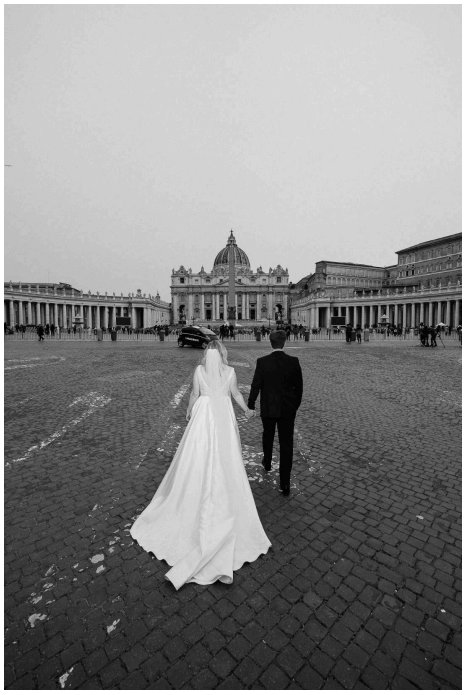

The Colosseum is a symbol of strength, courage and victory. It is said that it was here that the ancient Romans celebrated love and life, and that their voices still echoed through the arches of the amphitheatre. Choosing the Colosseum as the location for your elopement means not only celebrating love in a magical place, but also paying homage to the history and culture of Rome

The VATICAN

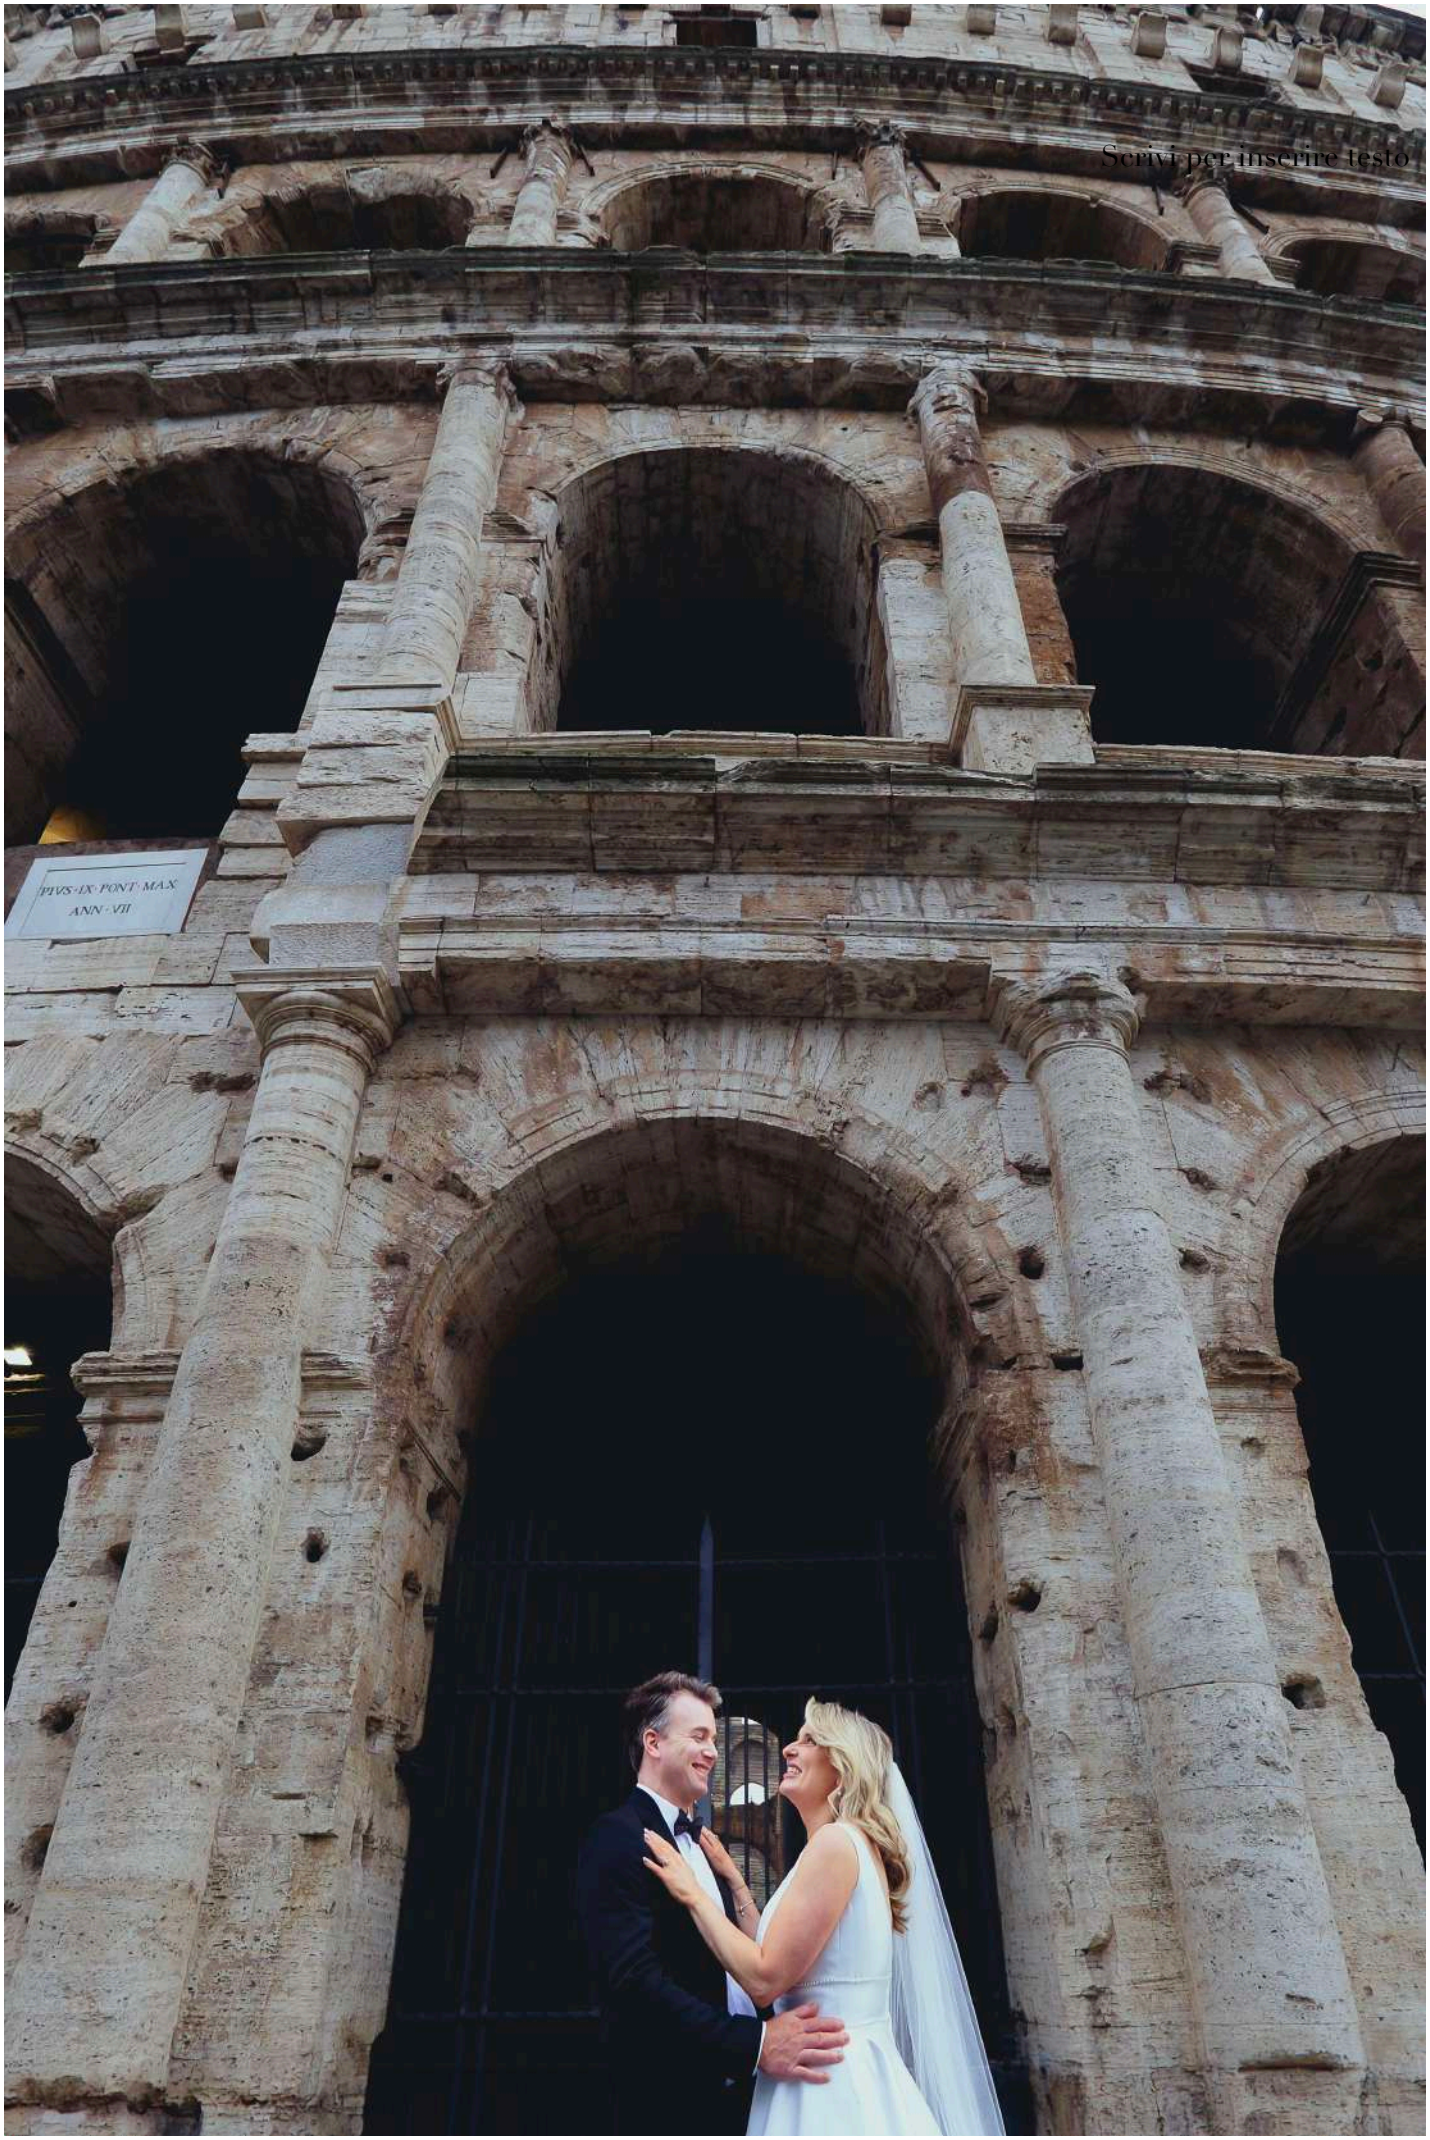

After getting married, Margaret and Aaroon decided to travel to the Vatican City for some very editorial photo shoots.
The use of flash allowed me to create shots with an editorial and sophisticated style.
